MOSCOW — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat met Friday in Moscow with Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to hammer out Middle East strategy that Arab sources said included more Soviet military aid. The sources said Sadat was seeking more military aid, including offensive weapons, to back up his new pledge to recapture Israeli-occupied territory before next April.

African leader dies in exile

VIENNA — Kwame Nkrumah, former president of Ghana, died in a Bucharest clinic Thursday after a "long and heavy illness," the central committee of the Romanian Communist party announced Friday. Nkrumah, 63, led his people from British colonial rule to independence in 1957. He was ousted in a military coup in 1966, while on a self-styled "peace mission" to Asia aimed at ending the war in Vietnam.

Nixon-Connally talk fueled

GRAND CAY, Bahamas Islands — President Nixon flew to a favorite vacation hideaway in the Bahamas Friday while speculation continued over the political impact of his visit this Sunday to the Texas ranch of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally. Connally maintains a powerful influence on the conservative wing of the state's Democratic party. His all-out support for Nixon could be decisive in carrying the state's 26 electoral votes in the November election.

Communist hunter dies

NEWPORT, R.I. — Louis Budenz, an ex-Communist who became a leading witness for Sen. Joseph McCarthy when the Wisconsin Republican was hunting Communists during the 1950s, died Thursday at the age of 80. He will be buried today. It was Budenz who named State Department adviser Owen Lattimore and other prominent figures as Communists or fellow travelers.

Hot dog, what an ache!

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A scientist said Friday that the artificial coloring in hot dogs gives headaches to some people. Dr. William Henderson said the hot dog headaches are caused by sodium nitrate, a chemical added to frankfurters to make them red. Henderson said the chemical is added for the same purpose to bacon, ham and salami.

Korean talks suggested

TOKYO — North Korea and South Korea should hold direct talks on reunification of the country "right away," Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea said Friday. The Communist leader said talks could be held while U.S. forces remained in South Korea and also hinted at the possibility of direct contacts with the United States in the future.

More women appointed

WASHINGTON — President Nixon announced Friday his administration has placed 105 women in policy-making positions in the federal government — the largest number in history. In a statement, Nixon said the number of women recruited for $20,000 and up posts nearly tripled since April 1971 and added that more than half of the appointees hold positions previously held only by men.

Senate puts hold on Kleindienst

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Democratic leadership put a "hold" Friday on Richard G. Kleindienst's nomination to be attorney general and one of his harshest critics promised a full airing of charges of improper political influence in the Justice Department.

The delay in Senate consideration of the disputed nomination was requested by one of the four Democratic members of the Senate Judiciary Committee who voted Thursday against Kleindienst's approval.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said the "hold" would be honored at least until Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield returns week after next from a visit to China with (GOP) Leader Hugh Scott, and decides when the nomination will be taken up on the Senate floor.

By Senate tradition, Byrd did not identify who made the "hold" request. But Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., one of the four dissenters, called a news conference to announce he intended to arrange a "full airing" of the committee's two-month investigation.

While disclaiming any idea of leading a filibuster against Kleindienst, Tunney said he would concentrate on the decision by John N. Mitchell's former deputy to clear Harry Steward, the U.S. attorney in San Diego who blocked a subpoena in a grand jury investigation of alleged illegal contributions to President Nixon's 1968 campaign.

It appeared to Kleindienst's friends and foes alike that Senate debate would last several weeks. But Byrd and Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the Judiciary Committee chairman, said they were sure any filibuster attempt would fail.

Byrd himself, although he voted for Kleindienst in committee, reserved the right to change his mind once the full Senate is ready to act.

Humphrey steps up pace with Muskie, Kennedy out

By United Press International
With Edmund S. Muskie on the sidelines and Edward M. Kennedy again disavowing his own candidacy, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey campaigned Friday at a frenetic pace for Tuesday's primary battles in Ohio and Indiana.

Humphrey, eager for a double win on top of his first primary victory in 12 years last Tuesday in Pennsylvania, concentrated on organized labor and minority group voters in Ohio before crossing into Indiana for a mass rally, a fund-raising dinner and a gospel songfest.

His opponents are Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., in Ohio and Alabama Gov. George Wallace in Indiana.

The former vice president called for legislation to provide a tax credit for parents of children in nonpublic schools, as President Nixon was urged to do earlier this month by a presidential study commission.

McGovern, equally eager to repeat the defeat he handed Humphrey last Tuesday in Massachusetts, slumped heavily industrialized northern Ohio in an effort to deplete some of Humphrey's strength there. McGovern visited Otis Elevator and Youngstown Sheet and Tube factories before meeting with workers at Chevrolet's Vega plant in Lordstown and attending an evening rally at WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee killed President Nixon's welfare bill Friday and adopted one which would create jobs and require employable welfare recipients to go to work or lose all federal benefits for themselves or their families.

As many as 29 million adults and children — roughly one seventh of the U.S. population — would draw from the U.S. Treasury under the committee's multibillion dollar program. They would get welfare payments, "work bonus" cash payments or wage subsidies.

Two Cabinet members, in the strongest terms, denounced the committee program as "a $9 billion step backward — backward into the leaf-raking schemes of the 1930s."

On behalf of the administration, Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson and Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare vowed a fight on the Senate floor to revive Nixon's battered "family assistance plan," first proposed in 1969.

But the White House was embarrassed when no Republican on the conservative-dominated committee stepped forward to defend Nixon's bill. Critics contended Nixon's plan would give people on welfare every incentive to avoid taking a job.

Nonetheless, Richardson said a 51-vote majority exists in the Senate to salvage Nixon's most important domestic program. But he could not name a Republican senator who would lead the battle on behalf of the President.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., committee chairman and author of the committee bill, conceded that up to 1.2 million welfare recipients — mostly mothers — could be forced into such "make-work" jobs as cleaning streets or beautifying parks. He said "make work" is better than paying people who refuse to work.

Under Long's plan, a mother who found a job in the private economy would be paid

$1.20 an hour plus a federal subsidy of 42 cents. If she were unable to find a private job, she would be given a state or local government job at only $1.20 an hour. This would be an incentive to find a better-paying job, he said.

If the mother refused to take a job, Long said, federal welfare benefits would be denied both her and her children but states could choose to continue aid from their own funds. Under Nixon's bill, the family would be penalized only by the loss of the mother's payment but payments would continue for the support of the children.

Richardson said the bill would "deprive needy children of assistance." Hodgson said it would depress wages throughout the economy and spur the 1 million workers who now receive less than $1.20 an hour to quit their jobs so they could better themselves by working at government "leaf-raking" jobs and other "phony federal jobs."

By coincidence, the government made public figures showing that federal welfare payments and medical payments to the needy soared to an all-time yearly high of $17.7 billion in 1971 — an increase of $3.3 billion.

The Senate committee killed Nixon's bill on a 10-4 vote after two years of consideration.

Work would only be required of welfare parents whose children are over age 6. These constitute 1.2 million of the 3 million families now receiving welfare payments under the aid for dependent children program.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., assailed Long's plan as "slavefare, not welfare." He said it was "barbaric" because it would force those people to work at $1.02 an hour, depressing wages throughout the economy.

Ribicoff's own proposal, a liberalized version of Nixon's family assistance plan, was rejected by a 10-3 committee vote. It would have guaranteed every welfare family of four an income of $3,000 a year.

Red tanks crush Viet front

SAIGON (UPI) — Tank-led North Vietnamese troops in a broad attacking front shattered South Vietnam's northernmost defense line Friday, advancing to within 10 miles of the old imperial capital of Hue after overrunning the Dong Ha bastion and surrounding Quang Tri City.

Four divisions of Communists — 40,000 men at full strength — laid siege to the northern provincial capital of Quang Tri, 18 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and sent South Vietnamese fleeing from two key bases guarding Hue, the country's third largest city. The two outposts abandoned early today were artillery base Bastogne, nine miles southwest of Hue, and the nearby Checkmate defensive base. Only one base, Birmingham, lay between the advancing columns of North Vietnamese and the ancient imperial capital, which was held by Communist forces for 24 days during the 1968 Tet offensive. Hue is 35 miles south of Quang Tri.

UPI Correspondent Stewart Kellerman said that as of dawn today there had been no Communist move made at Hue itself.

American warplanes pounded Bastogne and Checkmate early Saturday in an attempt to destroy abandoned government weapons, gas and ammunition.

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers flew 15 raids Friday to blunt the Communist advance to the north around Quang Tri, then turned early today to the area southwest of Hue.

UPI correspondent Chad Huntley in Hue said the bombing was so heavy that ground shocks could be felt in the city.

The North Vietnamese thrusts that opened the fifth week of their offensive began first against Quang Tri, their infantry columns advancing south behind a force of 100 tanks. The columns overran the Kong Ha bastion north of Quang Tri and by Friday afternoon had surrounded and were shelling the northernmost provincial capital in South Vietnam.

The second thrust was launched northeastward from the A Shau Valley toward Hue, 35 miles south of Quang Tri. Hue, which is on the coast 400 miles north of Saigon, is considered a major objective in the current Communist offensive as it was during the Tet offensive of 1968.

With the evacuation of the Bastogne and Checkmate bases, the South Vietnamese held only one base on the defensive perimeter around Hue. That base, Birmingham, is further to the east.

The bases were manned by units of the South Vietnamese 1st Division, considered to be the army's best fighting outfit.

The two-pronged attack trapped thousands of refugees on Highway 1 between Quang Tri and Hue. They were fleeing south toward Hue from Quang Tri.

Fifteen waves of B52 bombers and shelling by U.S. destroyers off the coast during the day Friday failed to halt the North Vietnamese advance on Quang Tri. By Friday night, that North Vietnamese column had penetrated eight miles south of Quang Tri and 25 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

U.S. welfare sets record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's total federal, state and local welfare bill soared to a record $17.73 billion in 1971, the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) said Friday.

That figure included all the money spent by federal, state and local governments for Medicaid, aid to needy families, the aged, blind and disabled, and local relief. It was $3.29 billion higher than the 1970 spending total. The federal share of the 1971 welfare bill was $9.13 billion.

The HEW annual figures showed that 22 states reported that the number of persons receiving welfare increased between 10 and 20 per cent in 1971, and in 14 states, the number rose by 20 per cent or more.

Annual welfare reports from HEW normally are issued on a fiscal rather than a calendar year basis, and the department six months ago reported the biggest annual welfare cost increase in history. A government spokesman said there was no significance to the unusual issuing of a calendar-year report.

But HEW's administrator of social and rehabilitation services, John D. Twinn, issued a statement with the newest report that said: "The figures speak eloquently for the need for welfare reform — to provide a more national system for taxpayers and recipients alike."

Medical aid payments for the needy increased 24.1 per cent to $6.92 billion and welfare money payments jumped 22 per cent to $10.81 billion in 1971. The 14.8 million persons receiving welfare payments at the end of 1971 also was an all-time high, HEW said.

"This booming cost rise in welfare is putting an overwhelming financial burden on many states," Twinn said.

He cited only nine jurisdictions that reported fewer needy families in 1971 than in 1970: Alabama, California, Louisiana, New Jersey, New Mexico, Oregon, Puerto Rico, Washington and West Virginia.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), the costliest welfare program, also had the biggest annual spending increase, a 27.0 per cent hike to $6.2 billion. The average welfare family was receiving $188.45 a month in December for housing, food, clothing and other living expenses.

The 22 states showing annual increases of 10-20 per cent in needy family recipients are Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Vermont and Wyoming.

'Hard Luck' robs from bank to pay doctor

Harrisburg, Pa., bank, then after similar attempts at two banks here on March 21 and last Wednesday.

On March 21, Hays testified later, he had been refused admittance at the George Washington University Hospital 45 minutes before he was arrested at a branch office of National Savings and Trust Co. a few blocks away. Hays said the hospital refused to admit him because he had no proof of medical insurance and was not an emergency case.

On Tuesday, at his arraignment on the March 21 charge, Margolis released Hays on personal bond with the understanding he would return to Pennsylvania and stay out of trouble. Police said he returned to Mechanicsburg to discuss a scheduled court appearance in Harrisburg on the Feb. 5 charge and, while there, paid a hospital bill using part of the money taken from the Harrisburg bank.

Hays returned to Washington Wednesday morning, police said, and went immediately to a Union Trust Co. bank branch where he handed a teller a note demanding cash. Hays sat down to wait, the teller sounded an alarm and a policeman arrived to arrest Hays, police said.

"The jailers are all very aware of Mr. Hays' situation and are taking good care of him," said lawyer Stuart Greenberg. "He is very timid. We will have some psychiatric tests run to see if he is lonely. Hays said from his jail cell that police "are beginning to think I'm 'Babyface Nelson,' but I'm really 'Hard Luck Clancy.'"

State ruling hurts outdoor lottery

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The Justice Department ruled Friday the Lottery Bureau made an illegal attempt to purchase a 40-foot trailer to haul and display the lottery drawing equipment.

The ruling means that, for the time being at least, no lottery drawings will be held out-of-doors and that MarkeTechs, Inc., of York, Pa., if stuck with a $36,141 trailer and a broken promise.

Revenue Secretary Robert Kane was informed of the decision in a letter from Walter L. Foulke, executive deputy attorney general.

"This presents a difficult problem," Kane said. "Our first outdoor drawing is scheduled for May 10 in Monongahela and we need this piece of equipment to do it."

"The drawing will be held in any event but Lord knows what we're going to do at this point."

Foulke said he made his decision after reviewing all of the Lottery Bureau's purchases. He said the "vast majority" of them — except the trailer — were perfectly legal.

MarkeTechs had been awarded the contract to build the raffle machine which is used to pick the winning lottery numbers. It had been promised the contract for the trailer.

"The lottery Bureau went on an erroneous assumption," Foulke said, "that having allowed MarkeTechs to build the machine, it followed that it should be allowed to build the trailer."

"They should have opened the contract for the trailer to competitive bidding."

He also said that although it was bought under emergency purchase regulations, there was no urgent need for it back in February.

"It is unfortunate that the outdoor drawings will have to be cancelled," Foulke said, "but that is a small price to pay to make sure the purchases are made properly."

Foulke said the Lottery Bureau made the mistake because it acted "in great haste" and because state purchasing regulations "are a tangled mess."

Kane said he asked for a Justice Department investigation after state Treasurer Grace Sloan questioned the propriety of the purchase. She said the Lottery Bureau did not say who the other bidders were and what they bid and that there was no certification MarkeTechs price was "reasonable."

He said members of the Lottery Bureau told MarkeTechs it would get the contract and to go ahead and build the trailer. MarkeTechs did just that and was prepared to deliver it at a price of $36,141 until the Justice Department stepped in.

Kane said he will consider various alternatives before determining his next move.

Two possible alternatives he listed were either rebuilding the trailer or renting it from MarkeTechs.

"If we do decide to open it for bids," Kane said, "the specifications we list will be highly influenced by the trailer MarkeTechs built for us."

Kane said the trailer is needed so the lottery drawings can be held outdoors at such events as county fairs.

Blacks, youths qualify in record delegate wave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Democratic leader reported Friday that blacks and young people were qualifying in record numbers as delegates to the party's convention in July but he expressed concern over the "under representation of women."

But Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., predicted at a news conference that when Democrats gather in Miami Beach on July 10 they would conduct "the most open and interesting convention in the party's history."

Fraser, chairman of the one of two reform commissions set up after the tumultuous 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago, said that party organizations in the 50 states and the District of Columbia had adopted rules either totally or substantially in compliance with new Democratic guidelines.

The nine states that have chosen their delegates, said Fraser, had produced delegations containing the following percentages among the three groups whose representation in the past fell below their proportion of the national population:

Women — 13 per cent at the 1968 convention.

29 per cent today. Target figure: 50 per cent.

Blacks — 5.5 per cent in 1968. 15.5 per cent today. Target: 11 per cent.

Youth (18 to 30 years old) — 4 per cent in 1968. 17 per cent today. Target: 19 per cent.

Fraser, who inherited the chairmanship of the delegate selection commission from Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said state parties had an obligation under national party guidelines to affirmatively seek increased participation among women and other groups.

He indicated that the convention's Credentials Committee would impose the burden on challenged delegations to prove that they made "all feasible efforts" to recruit women if their total fell below the 50 per cent figure.

"Of particular concern to all of us is the under representation of women," said Fraser, adding that he would "remind the state parties" of their obligation to meet those guidelines.

Some states are really making a good effort," Fraser said. "Others are not."

Brandt battles setback

BONN (UPI) — West Germany's parliamentary opposition Friday defeated Chancellor Willy Brandt on a budget test vote and turned down his offer of a bipartisan foreign policy.

But Brandt said he had no intention of calling an election now and asked Parliament to reverse Friday's setback when it gives the budget a final reading next week.

Rainer Barzel, leader of the opposition Christian Democrats, protested that the test vote shows Brandt is unable to master a majority next week in support of his nonaggression treaties with Russia and Poland.

Barzel reiterated he thought an election was the best way out of the parliamentary deadlock. But he said he was prepared to discuss the situation with Brandt.

The latest opposition challenge to Brandt came when the Christian Democrats demanded a roll-call vote on the chancellor's operating budget.

Brandt refused to make the vote an issue of confidence, so his defeat had no practical effect, and could be wiped out if the government wins a majority for the whole of its 1972 budget next week.

The vote was 247 for, 247 against, with one abstention. One member did not answer when called.

The government can be thrown out of office only if the opposition musters a majority to elect a new chancellor. An opposition attempt to do just that failed Thursday by two votes.

Protestors honor ban, remove Penn barriers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Some 200 anti-war protesters, honoring a court injunction, Friday removed barricades from the University of Pennsylvania's administration building, where they had staged a two-day sit-in.

The students, who began the protest after President Nixon's television address Wednesday night, cleared a barricaded doorway to allow County Sheriff Charles Murray to enter the building and read them the temporary restraining order.

After thanking the demonstrators for their courtesy, Murray ordered his men to finish tearing down barricades made up of waste cans, benches and desks.

University officials obtained an injunction Thursday after the protesters had set up barricades at each entrance.

The court order barred the students from interfering with normal activities at the school and directed a certain number of them to appear for hearings May 2.

No arrests were made during Murray's appearance.

The students had demanded the school agree to put the question of reserve officer training programs to a student referendum and divest itself of stock holdings in major firms that support the Indochina war.

After the injunction was read, a spokesman for the students said they would not attempt to renew occupation of any campus buildings.

Judges get discretion on juries

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Judges in murder cases may now use their discretion in deciding whether to lock up, or sequester juries in murder cases.

The state Supreme Court, in a directive released late Thursday by Chief Justice Benjamin R. Jones, changed a mandatory requirement that all juries in murder cases in state courts be sequestered from the time the first juror is picked.

The Board of Judges of the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court had suggested the change. District Attorney Arlen Specter argued against the change, saying that "nincom-poop judges are at fault, not the lockup rule."

Specter said the sequestering should continue, but only after selection of the jury was completed.

Under the new rule, should the trial judge decide on sequestering, it would be from the time of selection of the first juror.

Agnew blasts critics; 'defamers of America'

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Friday that President Nixon's critics were "defamers of America" who criticize his policies in Vietnam because they believe their country and its government are always wrong.

In a speech prepared for the Maine Republican Convention, Agnew leveled his charge specifically at Democratic Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine; George S. McGovern, S.D.; Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn.; Edward M. Kennedy, Mass.; J. William Fulbright, Ark.; John V. Tunney, Calif.; Vance Hartke, Ind.; Walter F. Mondale, Minn.; and Claiborne Pell, R.I.

"They vilify and badger and harass the leaders of the United States, but they can find nothing wrong with the leadership of this country's enemies," Agnew said.

"By creating an atmosphere of doubt and despair, the defamers of America are inhibiting the efforts of dedicated Americans who want to make this good nation of ours an even better one."

Agnew charged that "vicious attacks on America have become standard items in the campaign kits of men who aspire — or have aspired — to our nation's highest office."

Defending Nixon's air and naval bombardment against North Vietnam to help South Vietnam resist the current Communist offensive, Agnew said:

"To the Democrats, this was a serious escalation of the war and, in their Alice in Wonderland world, it was not the attackers who escalated the war but the defenders."

Eastonian gets life for murder

EASTON, Pa. (UPI) — Thomas Mathis, 21, Easton, was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday in connection with the slaying of an elderly recluse here last September.

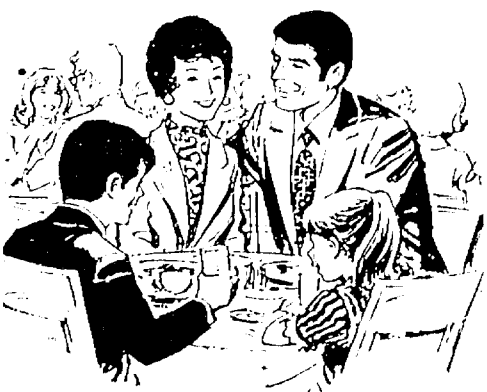

A Northampton County jury deliberated for three hours before finding Mathis guilty of murder in the death of Sebastian Patini, 74. The jury later sentenced the youth to a life term.

Mathis was one of three persons charged in connection with the case.

His brother Edward, and a cousin, Daniel Graves, both of Easton, were scheduled to go on trial later this year.

Students start laboratory

TANNERSVILLE — Students at the Pocono Elementary Center recently began work on an outdoor education laboratory adjacent to the school in Tannersville.

This will be the first step in planting 600 trees or shrubs for wildlife food and cover by the students. The plants have been supplied to the school by the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Rickey Fritz, area soil conservationist, in cooperation with the Monroe County Soil and Water Conservation District has been assisting the teachers and administrator in preparing a conservation plan for the outdoor laboratory.

The assistance was made available to the school by signing a conservation agreement between the school and the Monroe County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Some of the areas to be studied in the lab are soil and waste conservation measures, wildlife, weather, plants and other features of the environment.

By NORMAN LEHDE

Primary results

What did the Primary really show in Pike County? That George Wallace was a man for all parties, receiving votes on the Democratic, Republican and Constitutional ballots?

Probably the most memorable thing about the local election was that, while the county's majority party, the Republicans, couldn't produce a single contest, the minority Democrats had so many of them.

The Democrats started at the top, with five presidential candidates on the ballot, and worked down to some bitter battles for committee posts.

Involved in contests were the county chairman, the vice chairman, the president of the Women's Democratic Club and the head of the Young Democrats Club. Veteran committee members, in some cases, lost their posts, and in other cases, new challengers were soundly thrashed.

Someone estimated there are at least four Democratic parties in Pike County and that estimate may be conservative. In any case, they will all be coming together for reorganization of the county committee on the evening of Tuesday, May 9, at the Lackawaxen Township Building.

It appears that, under new state rules in regard to meetings at all levels, registered Democrats, who are not committee members, may attend.

While the Democrats were engaged in combat, the Republicans were engaged in absolute silence. It started at the top, with no one listed on the ballot for president and worked down to a complete lack of competition for a single committee post. Unless resorting to a written vote, the Republican voter had no choice for anything on Tuesday unless it was between voting and staying home and quite a few did the latter.

As far as the written system went, there was evidently no great sharpening of pencils for the name of Richard Nixon. In only two or three districts did it appear there was any special effort to promote the man in the White House.

Is the Republican Party in Pike County a great contented giant with no inner conflicts or controversy? Is the Democratic Party a group taking out minority party frustrations on each other but still generating the excitement of non-conformists who can't even conform with each other? That was the way it looked on Primary Day.

Youth vote vital in attack on age

The enfranchisement of youth not only has prompted a spate of speculation on how the under-21 ballot will affect the outcome of this year's balloting, but has fed the fires of revolt against those aged members of Congress up this year for reelection.

In seven states, younger candidates, ranging in age from 37 to 47, are challenging entrenched oldtimers ranging in age from 68 to 83. The thrust of their campaign is that these men, all of whom have spent decades in Washington, on both the Senate and House sides of the capitol, are in their dotage.

And these young candidates are depending heavily on the "youth vote" to sweep them to victory, most echoing the campaign of one challenger: "He's too tired to vote when the roll is called."

Predictably, the senior office holders are using that very fact — their seniority — to bolster their campaigns, claiming their position in Congress enables them to do more for the home state than some young, uninfluential man could. They point to their committee positions and chairmanships as proof that they are more valuable to their constituencies than a younger man would be.

Well, we've never been particularly enamored of the seniority system, but then we've never cared for attacking age for its own sake, either. Adding years onto a man doesn't necessarily diminish his powers of intellect. They may even enhance them, wisdom as it does growing from experience.

While there's an argument to be made for the contention that you don't know what a man can do until he's given the opportunity to do it, there is also no real reason to upseat a fellow who's doing a good job just because there are impatient young men waiting in the wings to strut their stuff.

At the heart of the problem is the seniority system that rewards a member of Congress for spending more years in office than any one else, regardless of qualifications. That is what enables a man who might not be as capable as younger men or women (Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine is in trouble age-wise, too) to wield the weapon of power when seeking reelection.

Abandon the seniority system and you have a situation where a person is elected or defeated according to his abilities, not what the fortunate circumstances of age and circumspection have awarded him.

Coin corner

Talisman not medal

By ROBERT SVENSSON

A dyed-in-the-wool coin collector might say it was something concocted of a witch's brew. He might just be right.

But right or wrong, talismans have been around for a long time, almost from the beginning of time. Because a lot of people collect them, they deserve mention in this column.

According to the dictionary a talisman is a figure cut or engraved under certain superstitious observances of the heavens. It is more commonly considered an amulet or charm.

With withercraft fast becoming something of a national pastime, talismans may be something more than a passing curiosity.

Long history

The talisman can be traced to ancient times. They have been discovered in the bindings of Egyptian mummies. The Bible tells of talismans of various kinds.

The talisman was common in ancient Persia. Here the most notable were the crowns of the Magi, a cult of magicians and soothsayers who made devices of various materials and sold them to be worn as protection to ward off evil.

Talismans of Buddha, Mohammed and many Hindu Gods have been known through the centuries in the Far East. They are worn today by many people in the Eastern world. Many of these talismans portray human feet.

Symbol of life

A scarab is nothing more than a beetle to most people. But to many people of ancient Egypt the scarab was symbolic of immortality and actually of resurrection. The scarab will be found on ancient coins and on any number of talismans, ancient and modern.

The lucky piece you carry in your pocket, the piece you wear on a chain around your neck, or those gimmicks on your charm bracelet are all talismans of a sort.

There is no easy way to acquire the truly ancient ones and there is no known list of prices or subjects available, or even places to find them. But if you are looking for a "sideline" to your coin collecting, you might look up "talismans" at your local library.

It may prove very interesting.

Secret warning

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Government strategists in 1969 delivered a unanimous warning to incoming President Nixon that South Vietnam's armed forces would be no match for North Vietnamese-Viet Cong forces "in the foreseeable future," that the pacification program showed no promise of "complete success" for "several years," and that the Saigon government might not "survive a peaceful competition with the (Communists) for political power in South Vietnam."

This gloomy outlook, contained in a secret, two-inch-thick review known as National Security Study Memorandum 1, has changed only in degree during the past three years.

The President's response has been to do his best to bolster Saigon while extricating the United States from the tragic Vietnam War. He has been determined, however, to end the American involvement with dignity. In his private conversations, he has repeated that he won't let the United States be "pushed around," "degraded" or "humiliated."

This was the reason he struck back with such fury from the air after the North Vietnamese assault against the demilitarized zone.

The secret 1969 study, known simply as NSMM-1 inside the White House, was compiled by foreign policy czar Henry Kissinger. He sent eight pages of pointed, penetrating questions to all the government agencies involved in the war effort.

Their answers showed considerable confusion over what was happening in Vietnam. The U.S. embassy and military command in Saigon, joined by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, generally took a rosy view. The Defense Secretariat, Central Intelligence Agency and State Department were more skeptical.

Saigon doomed

Here are highlights from the exhaustive study:

All the experts agreed that the South Vietnamese armed forces, "in the foreseeable future," couldn't fight off the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese "without U.S. combat support in the form of air, helicopters, artillery, logistics and some ground forces."

The toughest estimate, surprisingly, came from the Defense Secretary's office, which predicted bluntly: "It is unlikely that the (South Vietnamese), as presently organized and led, will never constitute an effective political or military counter to the Viet Cong."

The South Vietnamese forces, with an annual desertion rate of 34 per cent, were said to be facing "severe motivation, leadership and desertion problems." The total desertions, alleged the study, were "equivalent to losing one ARVN division per month."

Nevertheless, the majority view was that Saigon was making "reasonable progress" toward building a force "able to hold its own against an internal VC threat."

Nerve deafness inoperable

A fellow traveling salesman came to my office and noticed that I was wearing a hearing aid. He said he had thrown his away after an operation for nerve deafness.

My own doctor here says there is no operation for nerve deafness. I would go anywhere in the country, even though I am 75, if an operation would help me.

Mr. T.R.M., S.C.

Dear Mr. M.:

Your total confusion about surgery and deafness stems from a misunderstanding between you and your traveling friend. Actually, there is no operation for the cure of pure nerve deafness. Undoubtedly, his surgery was for a condition of deafness known as "otosclerosis." This is not nerve deafness.

This type of surgery is being performed by specially trained ear surgeons everywhere. There would be, therefore, no reason for you to travel to a distant area.

You can be sure that if your own ear doctor thought you were an ideal candidate for surgery, he would have suggested the operation.

No, there is not yet an operation for nerve deafness. And, be extremely wary of the pressure selling of some hearing-aid salesmen who say that they now have a new, spectacular, electronic hearing aid especially made for nerve deafness.

Editor, The Record:

Regardless of anyone's position on the Tocks Island Dam, the headline story on election day on the Tocks Island Dam vote was one of the most flagrant violations of journalistic ethics that I have ever witnessed.

Nowhere does the story indicate who says a "no" vote on the Tocks Island Dam may mean a "no" vote on the creation of the national recreation area other than the reporter. And yet this so-called fact is blazoned across the top of the page in a four-column headline.

The story contradicts itself in that an early paragraph reads: "If the voters say no to the dam, and if that sentiment somehow pervades the Tocks region and makes its way to Washington, the dam may just be struck down."

Later in the story, it says: "...the Tocks Island Dam project will not depend on local support."

For a subjective, contradictory story such as this to appear as a news story on election day is highly unethical and a disservice to your readers.

Is this the new journalism of interpretive

Editor, The Record:

I feel it is my duty to mention to the public that there is a heck of a lot of fine theatre happening in the community. I have just moved to this little town from New York City where I work in professional theatre. I am old and semi-retired now, but I never fail to miss a good show if I can help it.

After seeing Macbeth performed at Stroudsburg High School, by the Phoenix Players, I doubt I ever will. The fine performance of John Davis and Astrid Keuler as Macbeth and Lady Macbeth should be commended with the highest honors.

Several weeks before I attended Stroudsburg High School to see the musical play, "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown," I wasn't too enthused about going, but I will take a chance on anything.

I felt like I had won the million dollar lottery. What I saw was one of the most professional shows I had seen in a long while. Sixteen-agers showed me that high school groups are just as good as on or off-Broadway so-called professional actors. These kids were better than most.

Brenda Hughes and Ed Mayenschein gave an excellent showing. I can not forget Roger Butler. He not only directed the play dramatically, he directed it musically, an accomplishment not too often seen even by the pros. I would also like to mention John Mixell.

In a recent editorial you referred to the violation of Pennsylvania Blue Laws by a local merchant who, allegedly conducted Sunday sales.

First let us look at the theological correctness of one of the implications — that Sunday, or the first day of the week, was divinely appointed as a day of rest. If you will look at Exodus 20:8-11 you will see that the fourth commandment enjoins rest on the seventh day of the week. Look at the calendar and you'll easily see that Saturday is the seventh day.

If you read the Biblical account of Christ's crucifixion you'll observe that Christ was buried on Friday and that His disciples rested on the seventh day as their custom was, waiting until the first day of the week to visit His tomb.

A little more study will clearly show that Christ himself worshipped on the seventh day. I ask you — can mere man change even one letter of the 10 Commandments? Nowhere in the Holy Scriptures will you find one divine injunction to treat the first day of the week any different from the other five work days. So much for the theological aspects.

We hear a lot today about liberty —

Editor, The Record:

I wish to refine some comments that I previously made regarding the credibility of President Nixon's war policy. I base these refinements on the decisions made by some of the most intellectual students in this country, namely the students at the University of Pennsylvania.

At this university, these students have decided to occupy the administration building in an effort to stop investment by their administrators and school in armaments. Furthermore, at East Stroudsburg State College many of our administrators and faculty members who survived Nazi occupation are suddenly forgetting their former troubles and selling themselves back to right wing, Neo-Nazi politics.

In other words, instead of looking at the world realistically, we find ideologically bigoted journalists, like Jeffrey Hart, blabbing about how we should win the war and calling the ideologies Red and White, quite similar to the way other "gang b" members of this generation call the races Black and White.

Nixon's war policy is thus based on a "kill those gooks" attitude just like his economics is based on a pre-Keynesian Hooverology. In other words, fatten the rich and kill, starve, and jail the poor.

Although Jeffrey Hart might say that the president made North Vietnam a perfectly clear offer, I feel that his withdrawal program is just as perfectly clear an indication of his stubborn persistence in a losing cause for both sides. Even more clear is the distinct possibility of chief Presidential aide Henry Kissinger, resigning his post. I base this distinct possibility reporting? If so, I'll take the old-fashion virtues of straight news stories on news pages and reporters attributing their statements. Leave the analysis for your editorial page.

Letters to the Editor

Tocks story unethical?

Incidentally, although this may not appear for days, this letter was written on election day before the vote was counted. The effect of the story on the Tocks Island election is problematical, but it is certain to have bred confusion among the voters (and maybe this was the reporter's purpose after all).

PETER NEVINS

Stroudsburg

Editor's note: The conclusion that a "no" vote on the dam might mean a "no" vote on the recreation area was not a personal opinion of the reporter, but an opinion from an official source who requested that the source not be mentioned. As for the apparent contradiction, the first statement refers to solid opposition from the entire seven-county Tocks region; the second refers to support — or lack of it — from Monroe County alone. Obviously, seven-county opposition would carry far more weight in Washington than a single county's position.

High praise for local actors

who did such a fine job directing Macbeth.

Well, I have had my say. And now it is up to you, the community, to support them. And just don't think that you have to go because your best friend is in it, go for the entertainment. There's a lot there. Take my word for it.

I'm confident that the Phoenix Players and Greasepaint & Co., will continue to perform shows that will dazzle audiences. I have one suggestion. The two groups could combine and I'm sure produce a show that would be fabulous.

I was talking to two of the Macbeth cast one night and I was disappointed to learn that neither Brenda nor Eddie were involved in the community theatre. Eddie knows his stuff because I taught him for two years. Brenda is learning. Eddie was a houseman, but such a waste of talent, I didn't even see Lucy.

Stroudsburg High School is developing a name for itself and these kids are doing it. We must see more of them. So I urge all the members of the community to support them. I know I will keep watching the papers for the words Greasepaint & Co., and Phoenix Players.

With people like John Davis, Astrid Keuler, Brenda Hughes, Ed Mayenschein, Roger Butler, John Mixell, and all the others, how can we lose.

We hear a lot today about liberty — freedom of the press, freedom to do our own thing so long as we do not violate another's rights. Isn't it really part of our heritage to observe the day of the week we choose or not to observe any day at all if that is our conviction?

Why shouldn't a proprietor open his place of business any day of the week he chooses? He can't force the public to patronize him, so if he has customers it is because they are exercising their God-given freedom to decide when they will shop.

Our clinging to a Sunday Blue Law is wholly inconsistent with the religious freedom we enjoy, a freedom probably greater here than in any other country of the world.

If I am convinced that I shouldn't engage in business activities on a particular day of the week and that I should rest from secular activities, I will do so from inner conviction without being compelled by a man-made law.

I do refrain from secular pursuits on the seventh day of the week, but I don't think the theological correctness of my position permits me to impose my convictions on another.

Policy comments refined

ty on Robert Steele's "Pax Americana", in which Kissinger urged a complete pullout to begin with.

I leave you with these thoughts to ponder: How can we ever end a war in which both sides make contrary demands on one another without concessions? Don't you think we should honorably leave Vietnam, get back our prisoners of war, and withdraw our support of Thieu's dictatorship, which starves more people in the south than the Hanoi government of the north?

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

MYKONOS, Greece — to go from the tumultuous, teeming, screaming crowded and colorful city of Istanbul to the deathly hush of Delos where no one has been born or died for a thousand years would have been a cultural shock indeed if we had not had 18 hours of sailing time in between.

We sailed out of the harbor at Istanbul at noon and had our first full afternoon aboard. By this time, the 116 passengers knew each other very well indeed: Swiss, Australians, Germans, French, South Africans and South Americans were sprinkled among the Americans. Newlyweds, 25th anniversary couples, grandmothers and teenagers, sculptors, writers, coaches, dentists, doctors — we were a motley crew but oddly enough, homogenous.

I'd always read about the sudden flowering of friendships on shipboard and it's really true. We've shared so many lectures before dinner, so many tours, ridden on tenders and donkeys, climbed thousands of steps and gazed at centuries of ruins.

The ruins at Delos are unusual since this is an uninhabited island with no layers of cities and towns to be peeled away. Sacred to Apollo for whom Zeus created it as a birthplace, some of its temples date back 2,500 years.

To me, it will always bring a memory of lizards flicking away in ancient walls and a riot of flowers — red, gold, lavender, purple, blue against white marble. This is an island dedicated to worship throughout history and beyond. Many centuries ago, to keep it uncontaminated, it was decreed that no one must be born or die here, so they shipped off the old, sick and the pregnant to a neighboring island. Now, the only inhabitants are the guards — and the lizards.

It was the last of our guided tours of ruins per se. The af-

Choir program highlights area club meeting

STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg Music Parents Association were entertained at their recent meeting by the Stroudsburg High School Concert Choir.

During a brief business meeting, Mrs. Viola Fuscari, James Owen and John Pyle were selected as the nominating committee for next year's slate of officers.

Miss Shirley Swanker selected the following winning tickets of the Stroudsburg Music Association's raffle: Heith Phillips, $200; Lee Koehler, $100; and Mary Jane Price, $50.

ternoon we spent unguided on Mykonos which has some of the aura of New Hope — self-consciously picturesque, art-crafty, haunt of celebrities, and a shopper's paradise — it is also the first place we encountered young Americans with long hair, backpacks, peasant blouses and blue jeans.

Although, the town itself couldn't be further removed in appearance from colonial New Hope. Here are dazzling white cubistic houses massed around the sapphire blue bay, white steps leading up to flower-hung balconies and hundreds of tiny churches and dozens of picturesque wind mills — and shops which boast customers like Jackie Onassis, Elizabeth Taylor, Maria Callas, Princess Grace — and the full passenger list of the Galaxie.

Going back and forth in the tender which ran from the ship to the shore every hour was like Christmas shopping with everybody showing off the gifts they had brought for the folks at home.

That's where we'll all be headed soon. We have a few days in Athens and a few on Corfu, but from here on we'll be getting home ahead of the mail. Which is what we are all hoping will catch up with us in Athens. Are you all still there in the world and century we left?

Suzanne Martens honored

STROUDSBURG — The April Showers Ball, held on April 12 for the benefit of the Burnley Workshop, ended on a more grateful than official note this week as steering committee members honored Mrs. Suzanne Martens, Mount Airy Lodge owner who had donated the entire event, at a luncheon.

William Johnson, president of the board at the Burnley, and Salvatore Palvadore Palazzo, the Burnley's executive director, were on hand to express their gratitude to Mrs. Martens whose donation netted $11,500 to be used toward construction of the Burnley's new building.

"There are just not enough words in Webster's Dictionary to say how appreciative we are," Johnson told Mrs. Martens, noting a plaque in her honor will be hung in the new workshop that is scheduled for completion in May, 1973. "The plaque will be an everlasting thank you."

"It was really a marvelous party and I certainly will enjoy it too when I see the building go up," Mrs. Martens replied. "It was an enormous pleasure to do what I did and I hope to continue in the future."

Johnson presented tokens of appreciation to steering committee members Mrs. Steven DeGeorge, tickets; Mrs. William Huffman, reservations; Mrs. Kip Kane, publicity; Roger Cauchi, arrangements; Steve Marciw and Mrs. Samuel Newman, co-chairmen; Mrs. Frank Dracos, hostess committee; and Mrs. Walter Wyckoff.

Local residents attend meeting

STROUDSBURG — "Growing Pains" was the theme of the 1972 Mid-Atlantic Regional Spring Meeting for Planned Parenthood World Population held recently in Philadelphia.

Those participating in the conference from Monroe County Planned Parenthood Association were Dr. Alberta Finch, Mrs. Robert R. Hellmann, Mrs. Doyle D. Galloway, Sherry Beshore and Sharyne Donfield.

It was announced that the 67 per cent growth of Planned Parenthood during the past five years calls for a new organization which is currently being discussed.

Allen Pond, associate dean and professor of public health at the University of Pittsburgh's graduate school, told those at the conference, "Family planning is a legal right." He noted health standards are changing now that the public is beginning to take an interest and cautioned members not to relax in health fields.

Speaking at one of the conference luncheons, Dr. Richard G. Lonsdorf, associate professor of psychiatry and law at the University of Pennsylvania's School of Law, discussed social pressures on women to have children. He gave several proposals that might regulate the number of children each family should have.

Monroe County Planned Parenthood members attended workshops concerning counseling, problem pregnancies, vasectomies, marriage and minors. There were also workshops on volunteer programs, sex education for emotionally disturbed children, programs for teenagers and community outreach workers.

New place may exist for gripes

Dow Jones — Offaway News WASHINGTON — Women who think their bosses discriminate against them may wind up with yet another place to take their complaints, the National Labor Relations Board.

The NLRB will hold a hearing next Monday on an issue it has never considered: Is an employer required by law to bargain with a union over charges of job discrimination based on sex? Secondly, the board will consider whether such alleged discriminatory practices, if found to exist, constitute an unfair labor practice.

The case grows out of a complaint filed by the United Steelworkers Union against Jubilee Manufacturing Co., an Omaha, Neb.-based maker of automobile horns and burglar alarms. The union contended that Jubilee violated the National Labor Relations Act by refusing to bargain on its proposal to eliminate alleged discriminatory practices against female employees.

Last year, Lloyd S. Greenidge, trial examiner dismissed the case on the ground the company wasn't in violation of the act. The Steelworkers then appealed to the five-member board for review and decision.

Absence of sewerage plan may cause halt to building

By ANDREA B. STERN

Pocono Record Reporter
STROUDSBURG — Beginning May 15, the state will place a moratorium on all building in Monroe County unless the individual municipalities or the county can come up with an adopted and approved official sewerage plan.

The May 15 date has been set by the Pennsylvania Environmental Quality Board following its newly adopted revisions of the Pennsylvania Sewerage Facilities Act of 1967.

The new regulations specify that no permits for individual or community sewerage systems will be issued in any municipality throughout the state that does not have an official plan.

To date, no municipality in Monroe County has such an adopted and approved plan.

The purpose of the revisions, according to Thomas Klock, director-secretary of the Tocks Island Regional Advisory Committee (TIRAC), is to eliminate the problems which have previously existed in enforcing the act's provisions.

Klock noted Monroe County has the option to adopt an official plan on behalf of all its municipalities. Toward this end, he said TIRAC's consulting engineers have prepared a report advising each of the counties, including Monroe, to implement water quality management plans on a regional basis and added TIRAC will discharge up to $10,000 to the counties for this purpose.

Contending it is "in the counties' best interests" to look in the direction of regionalization, Klock maintained formation of a water and sewer authority in Monroe County "would assist the municipalities in satisfying the state's requirements."

The alternative means of complying with the state's new regulations, by which each municipality would adopt and seek approval for its own individual plan, "is not necessarily the most efficient way for the municipalities to take care of their needs," Klock stressed.

"The Delaware River Basin Commission (DRBC), under its adopted policy, is saying it won't accept a plan unless it is regional in character," he explained. "And it just isn't going to approve any facilities that are not regional in scope."

The DRBC has adopted a resolution to foster construction of a $362 million, tri-state regional sewerage system aimed at protecting the proposed Tocks Island Reservoir from becoming polluted.

Unless local municipalities can come up with alternative plans by July 1 that would provide the same service as the mammoth DRBC system, the inter-state agency has announced its intention to go ahead with construction of the system that would encompass those areas of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York that drain into the Delaware River.

In 1966, the Monroe County Planning and Zoning Commission, funded by a $19,000 Farmers Home Administration grant, authorized the R.E. Weston consulting firm to prepare a sewage study for the western portion of the county.

County officials had hoped the Weston study coupled with the Tocks Island Region Environmental Study (TIRSES), which encompasses the eastern portion of the county and was prepared by the DRBC, would together serve as a comprehensive and official plan for the county.

Klock said the Weston and TIRSES reports, if adopted by the county, could provide "a framework" for a county-wide official plan.

"However, they will still have to set forth what administrative organization will adopt it," he amplified, referring back to the formation of the county-wide authority which has been reviewed by local officials since early February.

Klock stressed an additional point favoring regionalization is the fact that the federal government has announced it will not fund any sewerage plans after July, 1973 that are not regional in nature.

The Sewage Facilities Act sets guidelines that require every official plan to include provisions for treated sewage discharge, projections for areas where systems will be required in the future, and time schedules for proposed methods of financing, construction and operation of community systems.

Pike youth arrested in drug case

MATAMORAS — A 19-year-old Matamoras youth was arrested Friday by Pennsylvania State Police from the Milford barracks after he picked up a package at the Matamoras post office which contained about two pounds of marijuana and a small quantity of hashish.

Edward Vanders, of Matamoras, was arrested in the vicinity of the post office by the state police officers, arraigned before District Magistrate August Metz of Milford, and freed on $5,000 bond pending his preliminary hearing.

The arrest was the result of an investigation conducted by the state police. The Pennsylvania State Police Narcotics Strike Force and U.S. Customs officials.

A state police spokesman from the Milford barracks said it was not immediately known where the package was mailed from or how the Customs Bureau became involved in the investigation.

He also stated there were no other arrests pending in the case at this time.

The date for Vanders' preliminary hearing was not made known at the time of his arrest.

Officials deny prior knowledge of proposal

Juvenile plan to be studied

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg Borough Council will consider a request for state funds to establish police services to juveniles and act on the proposal as soon as further information is presented.

In a special meeting of the council Friday, the borough officials reacted to recent pronouncements from East Stroudsburg Mayor E.H. (Barney) Staples who has withdrawn his request for the juvenile services funds and abolished the borough's police detective bureau.

According to the council, the Mayor's withdrawal from the juvenile services matter will not stop consideration and possible application.

As to the abolition of the detective bureau — council never recognized the existence of a detective bureau in the borough's Police Department.

Some councilmen question whether East Stroudsburg ever had a detective bureau. The Borough Codes state that council "may" establish a police department including a police chief, sergeants and all other classifications.

When the detective bureau was established approximately a year ago, the Mayor announced in the news media that borough patrolmen would serve in the capacity of detectives. The Mayor Thursday announced the abolition of the bureau.

Councilman Charles Merring said Friday, "How can you abolish something that has never been formed. Answer me that."

Councilman Jack Wallie said the council has always looked upon the designated detectives as patrolmen and has never allocated any money for the detective bureau.

From council's point of view East Stroudsburg had a detective bureau in name only.

Reacting to the Mayor's decree stating the borough's police department was withdrawing its request for state funds to establish a fulltime juvenile officer, councilmen indicated they had no knowledge of the application until the Mayor announced withdrawal.

Council President Pearly H. Hunt told the council he had received a copy of the application for the juvenile service funds and said he called the special meeting to see if the council wanted to pass the application for $5,000 from the state.

Councilman John Barnes said, "The first I ever heard about this was from the paper. I took it for granted from the statement the mayor made this was called off."

Barnes was informed the council has an extension on the application's deadline allowing for a decision before May 8. It had been deadline for Monday.

Wallie and Barnes said they needed more information on the program in order to fathom the borough's obligation before they could pass on the application.

Dr. Thomas Blair, borough resident and professor at East Stroudsburg State College, told the council the borough would not be obligated to pay anything for the funds and would be able to cancel the program after the first year.

Still, Wallie and Barnes said they needed more information.

They said they endorsed the principle of a juvenile officer for the borough, but the effect of taking one man off the police force for full time juvenile work has to be spelled out.

The councilmen expressed concern over the possibility of having to hire an additional policeman to make up for the vacancy left by the juvenile officer who will come from the present force.

Trooper cited for action

HERSHEY — Pennsylvania State Policeman Delvin E. Powell, of the Stroudsburg barracks, was cited for meritorious action Friday at a special ceremony held at the State Police Academy in Hershey.

Powell received a formal letter of commendation for saving the life of an accident victim on Interstate Route 80 near Stroudsburg March 18.

The formal Letter of Commendation, presented by State Police Commissioner Rocco P. Urella, noted that while responding to a call for assistance at the accident scene, Powell and Trooper Richard Suda found a woman lying on the side of the road and a car upside down in McMichael's Creek at the bottom of a 150-foot embankment.

Trooper Powell, fully clothed and ignoring the 38-degree temperature, entered the creek to look for other possible victims inside the submerged auto. He found no one inside the vehicle, but when he surfaced he found a man floating in the icy water approximately 100 feet away.

He pulled the injured and unconscious man from the water and administered first aid to both the man and woman until an ambulance removed the victims to the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Urella's letter concluded, "Your determination to search for all possible victims and your disregard for personal comfort resulted in the saving of a man's life. Such action does much to uphold the honor and tradition of the Pennsylvania State Police."

Florence Ridgeway rises above plain old politics

By GARY GROSSMAN

Pocono Record Reporter

STROUDSBURG — If you were born, married, adopted, sued, busted, deeded property or willed money in Monroe County in the last 50 years, chances are Mrs. Florence Ridgeway had something to do with it. And if you want to leave the country she can probably help you out.

Mrs. Ridgeway is the chief deputy Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts and she has been in the Register and Recorder's Office during her 50 years of service to Monroe County. In fact, no one has spent more time in Monroe County government than Florence Ridgeway.

She says this year will be her last one in the Monroe County Courthouse, but some have their doubts. She hasn't decided on a retirement date just yet.

Mrs. Ridgeway began working for the county in 1922 and she survived every election in the last 50 years — something of an accomplishment where patronage still reigns over the payroll and jobs in government relate to party affiliation.

Mrs. Ridgeway is a Democrat and always has been. How did she survive the winds of change?

"I don't know. I've worked for Republicans and Democrats," Mrs. Ridgeway said. She said she once asked one of her bosses if he wanted her to change registration, but he didn't seem much interested in her politics.

Capable worker

If you ask a lawyer who has been around a while, he'll probably tell you Mrs. Ridgeway's politics would be a sorry reason to dismiss one of the most capable county workers.

Mrs. Ridgeway doesn't think too much of politics these days.

"Years ago if a man told you he'd vote for you, he would and if he told you he'd work for you, he would. They do anything but that today," Mrs. Ridgeway said.

Anyway, it's the job that interests Mrs. Ridgeway, not the politics that go with it.

"I never considered doing anything else," she said. "I told my boss I'd work for nothing if necessary. I like meeting the people and the work itself. That's one of the reasons I'm hesitating about retiring."

Likes to work

"Because I just can't make up my mind about what it would be like to just be at home and not go to work. I like to work. I was born and raised to work and I've never known anything but work," she pants.

She was born in Reders —

"a farmer girl" — and moved away, all the way to Stroudsburg to go to high school. After graduating, Mrs. Ridgeway went to business college in Scranton, worked one year for an attorney, and then settled into the Courthouse.

And now with retirement pending, Mrs. Ridgeway says she will head for Hawaii and stay there until she "gets sick of it."

She expects to make the trip after her 50th anniversary in the courthouse late in May, but thinks she'll be back in June and probably retire sometime this summer.

Why retire? "Well, I'm 70 years old and it's time for the young people to take over. It's a young world, you know."

"That ought to be enough. I've got some work to do."

Mrs. Florence Ridgeway

New York man arrested for hauling stolen goods

MARSHALLS CREEK — Pennsylvania State Police from the Stroudsburg barracks arrested a 40-year-old New York man Friday morning at Muller's Diner on Route 209 near Marshalls Creek and charged him with transporting stolen property.

Thomas O'Connor of Bayside, N.Y., was arraigned before District Magistrate Eleanor Randolph and committed to the Monroe County Jail in default of $2,000 bond. No date has been set for the preliminary hearing.

O'Connor was apprehended by Trooper Donald Kresge after he came out of the diner and started the car in preparation to leave.

The auto was reported stolen by New York authorities April 26. Details about how Pennsylvania State Police became alerted to the car and drivers presence in the area were not released by the state police spokesman.

The 1971 Ford sedan which O'Connor was driving has been impounded and will be returned to its owner in New York.

Indianapolis to open in preparation for classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Indianapolis Motor Speedway will open its gates this morning for another month-long grind of practice and qualifications culminating with the Memorial Day race.

Activity will be relatively "slow" for the first few days, due to the traditional speed limit placed on drivers and cars until the track is broken in. There is also a chance of showers this weekend.

Track Supt. Clarence Cagle has pronounced the famed 2.5-mile oval ready for action. Cagle and his crew have been working for weeks getting the

Based on five tests, speculation was that speeds this spring will soar about 10 m.p.h. over last year's averages which stopped just short of 180 m.p.h. for pole-sitter Peter Revson, Redondo Beach, Calif., who gunned his low-slung McLaren to new one and four-lap records.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., a former "500" winner, hit 180 m.p.h. testing times at the Speedway last month on a track designed for speeds of up to 75 m.p.h.

Nobody has reached such speeds here in previous years, a fact the experts attributed to improvements not only in cars but also in chassis construction.

In fact, it appeared to be a foregone conclusion that Revson's 1971 qualifying records will be shattered numerous times and that the 33 cars comprising the race day lineup May 27 will average considerably faster than last year's record 171.665 m.p.h.

Eighty-one cars were entered, four more than last year, heralding a hectic two-week practice period before the initial time trials May 13-14. The following weekend will also be devoted to the trials to weed out the fastest field ever for racing's only million dollar event.

All of USAC's "hot" chauffeurs will be on hand — Al Unser, Bobby's brother and the race winner the last two years; Mario Andretti, 3-time champ A. J. Foyt, Lloyd Ruby, Mark Donohue, Revson, Jim McElroy, Bill Vukovich, Roger McCluskey, Gary Bettenhausen, the winner at Trenton last Sunday, and others.

Thirty-five machines are brand new, and the four-cylinder Drake-Offenhauser power plant will enjoy a pressing 51-20 numerical advantage over the 8-cylinder Fords. The seven other cars will be powered by a variety of engines, including a 6-cylinder American Motors plant.

sprawling racing plant in shape, parching the surface which always takes a beating from winter weather.

In keeping with tradition, chief steward Harlan Fonger has imposed the safety speed limit for the first few days of practice.

But the speed limit he posted was 170 miles per hour, the highest ever, and 20 m.p.h. slower than recent practice laps logged during fire tests.

Everything being equal, the speed limit will be lifted next week, and then the veteran elite from the United States Auto Club circuit will be on its own.

Blue's contract talks end over baring of concessions

CHICAGO (UPI) — Oakland Athletics owner Charles Finley said talks with holdout pitcher Vida Blue broke up without settlement Friday when Blue balked at making public two contract concessions.

After 22 hours of negotiations, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who was trying to mediate the contract dispute, flew back to New York and Blue left for California, Finley said.

"I am very disappointed and disillusioned to say the least," Finley said. "We had reached an agreement granting Vida's two requests."

Finley said the A's had agreed to give their star hurler a $5,000 bonus for the 1971 season and agreed to give him his $8,000 college scholarship.

When Vida signed his first contract with the A's it included a college scholarship program with $8,000 based on eight semesters with $1,000 per semester. This program was to begin within a year and a half after signing otherwise it was null and void. They wanted us to prepay them $8,000 today. We agreed," Finley said.

The trouble came, Finley said, when the attorneys met and attempted to work out a joint statement to the press. "That statement included the two concessions and his agreed salary of $50,000," Finley said.

Aaron continues hot streak in Atlanta win over Bucs

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Frank Aaron singled twice, scored twice, and drove in two runs to spark an eight-run sixth inning outburst that carried the Atlanta Braves to a 13-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

Trailing 3-1 going into the sixth, the Braves scored a run on a single by Aaron, a walk to Rico Carty and Darrell Evans' single, and then broke the game open by scoring seven more runs after two were out.

Pinch-hitter Jim Breazeale put Atlanta ahead 4-3 with a bases-loaded single. Felix Millan and Ralph Garr followed with run-scoring hits and then a two-run single by Aaron made it 8-3. After another walk to Carty, Earl Williams singled to score Aaron.

The Pirates had an early 3-0 lead, Richie Hebner driving in an unearned run with a first-inning single and doubles by Al Oliver and Willie Stargell and a triple by Manny Sanguillen producing two more runs in the third.

East Stroudsburg takes over lead in L-N Northern Division with win

Cavaliers cop 10-1 victory

JIM THORPE — East Stroudsburg rode Bob Beck's five-hitter to a 10-1 victory over Jim Thorpe Friday and first place in the Northern Division of the Lehigh-Northampton League.

The Cavaliers are 6-1 in the league, one-half game ahead of Bangor, who lost a 12-0 non-league decision to Northwestern Friday.

East Stroudsburg took a 2-0 lead in the first inning when it scored without a base hit. The loser committed two key errors in the inning.

Jim Thorpe gained a run back in the bottom of the inning, but East Stroudsburg put the game away with three runs in the third. Kim Walek scored his second run of the game on Bob Beck's double. After Dan Whittaker singled, Pat Boushell drove in Beck with another hit and Whittaker eventually scored on a passed ball.

Beck, who drove in three runs, scored three runs while striking out nine, hit a solo homer in the fifth.

Utah gets nod to cop title

By United Press International

The defending American Basketball Association champion Utah Stars are a solid favorite to wrap up the Western conference title against the Indiana Pacers on Monday but over in the east, the New York Nets are keeping the experts guessing.

The Nets, who weren't even expected to get by the first round of playoffs after a third place finish in the ABA eastern division during the regular season, swept past the Kentucky Colonels in six games and now have the momentum going again against the Virginia Squires.

The Squires took the first two games of the series at Virginia, causing most observers to write of the Nets' hopes for becoming "a team of destiny."

Utah had a chance to wrap up the west Wednesday night but were stopped 105-99 in Indiana. That series has also been a "home court affair" and the Stars will be the host for the seventh and deciding game on Monday night.

Wildcats set Penn Relays mark

Villanova cops 7th distance title

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Anchorman John Harnett, a sophomore import from Ireland who got into the race as a substitute, held off a challenge in the homestretch Friday to give Villanova its seventh consecutive distance medley championship in the 78th annual Penn Relays.

Harnett, replacing the injured Brian McElroy, beat back the surging challenge of Duke's second-year sensation Bob Wheeler to pace the Wildcats to their victory in the time of 9:37.4, breaking the meet mark of 9:37.9 Villanova set in 1968.

Harnett trailed Penn's Karl Thornton by as much as 15 yards during the early running of the anchor but his 4:03.3 mile enabled him to overtake the Quaker co-captain and go into a two-yard lead entering the gun lap.

The 19-year-old Harnett then held off Wheeler, who surged from 30 yards behind with a 3:59 clocking in the final leg, and wrapped up Villanova's

The Kingsmen scored a run in the first when Kevin Kinney tripled in Steve Stetler, who had singled. The loser took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the inning and never lost the lead.

triumph by a four-yard margin. Tom Gregan, another Villanova Irishman who is a freshman, held his own during the three-quarter mile leg after the early dueling had Penn first and Manhattan second, but sent Harnett off trailing Penn by seven yards.

Manhattan finished third behind Duke, while North Carolina was fourth and Penn was fifth. Villanova's medley mark was the second racing record of the day with the Texas-El Paso foursome of Errol Stewart, Steve Williams, Harrington Jackson and Harold Williams setting a time of 4:00 in a qualifying heat for today's 440-yard final.

The Texans, who ran a 39.2 quarter mile in a dual meet with Southern California two weeks ago, broke their own Penn Record of 40.1 set in 1970.

Defending champion Norfolk State equaled the old mark in its heat. The other qualifiers were Adelphi, Florida A&M, J.C. Smith and Penn State.

Another meet mark fell when defending champion Hal Schoterman of Kent State won the hammer throw with a toss of 221 feet, nine inches, beating his own record of 219 feet, four inches set last year. Frank Bredice of South Connecticut was second, 17 feet behind.

Charles Geter of Tennessee, took the long jump with a leap of 24 feet, 11 1/2 inches, almost 10 inches longer than second place Ron Coleman of Florida.

Bruce Collins of Penn, who ran the quarter mile leg of the distance medley, won the 440-yard hurdles to open the meet with a 50.8 clocking, just one tenth off the meet record.

Pen Argyl tops Pocono Mountain

SWIFTWATER — Pen Argyl scored four runs in the fourth inning on just one hit Friday and went on to beat Pocono Mountain, 6-3, in a Lehigh-Northampton League baseball game.

Pen Argyl opened a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Mark Bray's double drove in Steve Kopko, who had walked. The Cardinals scored twice in the bottom of the inning without a hit — on three errors and a fielder's choice.

The four Pen Argyl runs came on one walk, four errors, three fielder's choices and Jack Kohan's single.

Bob Weber went the distance for the winner, giving up just two hits, striking out five and walking five. Starter Randy Oney took the loss, pitching five innings.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Kings announced Friday they would not renew the contract of coach Fred Glover after finishing in last place this year in the western division of the National Hockey League.

Glover had been hired on Oct. 30, 10 days into the 1971-72 season, and the team rallied to fourth place and possible playoff contenders but the Kings faltered during the last month and ended 11 points behind the sixth place California Seals.

"I've suffered many disappointments this year, especially when we didn't make the playoffs," Glover said Friday.

General Manager Larry Regan had announced in October when Glover was hired that the contract was for the season and a decision would be made then about renewing the contract.

Regan had also been managing the Kings until Glover was brought in as coach from the Seals. During the 1970-71 season the Seals under Glover's direction set an all time record for losses in the NHL.

Hickman homers back Jenkins

CHICAGO (UPI)—Jim Hickman belted two three-run homers Friday to pull the Chicago Cubs out of an eight-game losing streak and help Ferguson Jenkins to his first pitching win of the year, 10-8, over the Cincinnati Reds despite giving all the Reds' runs.

The victory marked the return of manager Leo Durocher, who had been hospitalized for treatment of a strep throat infection during the losing streak.

Hickman, subbing at first base for Joe Pepitone who called in sick with a stomach ache, boosted Chicago's lead to 6-1 with his second of the game and of the season.

Jenkins, winner of the Cy Young award in the National League last year, gave up two walks as well as the 13 hits in going all the way. Seven of the Reds' eight runs off him were earned.

Bangor defeated by 12-0

NEW TRIPOLE — Bangor took a day off from the Lehigh-Northampton League Friday, but the Slats didn't have an easy day.

Northwestern collected 10 hits off three Bangor pitchers and held the Slats to three hits as it took a 12-0 victory.

Zane Bush collected a single for Bangor in the third, Bill Jackson tripled in the fourth and Pete Gheller doubled in the fifth for Bangor's only hits.

The winner took a 2-0 lead in the third inning, made it 5-0 in the third and put the game well out of reach with seven runs in the fifth.

Smith's seventh inning hit gives Stroudsburg 5-4 win

STROUDSBURG — Steve Smith's bases loaded bunt with no outs in the seventh inning Friday drove in Dawson Besecker with the winning run as Stroudsburg beat Slatington, 5-4, for the Mounties' first Lehigh Valley League baseball win.

The Mounties, 1-6 in the league and 2-7 overall, jumped on Woody Peters for two runs in the first inning on singles by Lew Silver and Bob Hoffman, a walk and an error.

The Bulldogs tied the game in the third on two singles and an error with two outs. But Stroudsburg came back in the bottom of the inning to take a 4-2 lead on Al McCormick's single, two errors, a walk and a stolen base.

Slatington tied the game again in the fourth on Tom Leslie's double and a pair of singles.

In the seventh inning Besecker reached first on catcher's interference and McCormick and Hoffman walked to load the bases. Smith then laid down a bunt to drive in the winning run.

Jim Hopkins went the distance for the Mounties, striking out six and walking three.

Record trade dip

Exports boost news

NEW YORK (UPI)—American this week learned the nation had a record $1.5 billion international trade deficit in the first quarter despite the new Nixon economic policies.

The March excess of imports over exports was $584.3 million, only a slight improvement from the whopping February deficit of $597.6 million.

The Commerce Department said the continuing large trade deficit is the result of improving business conditions in the United States, which sparked a demand for imported goods, and more importantly, it reflects the higher prices of imported goods created by the devaluation of the dollar.

That business conditions are improving was indicated in the latest report on corporate profits by the Wall Street Journal, which said first quarter earnings of major corporations were up 11.7 per cent from a year ago. At the same time, McGraw-Hill's economists said capital outlays of business now seem likely to rise 14 per cent this year, about double the last forecast made by the publishing firm a few months back.

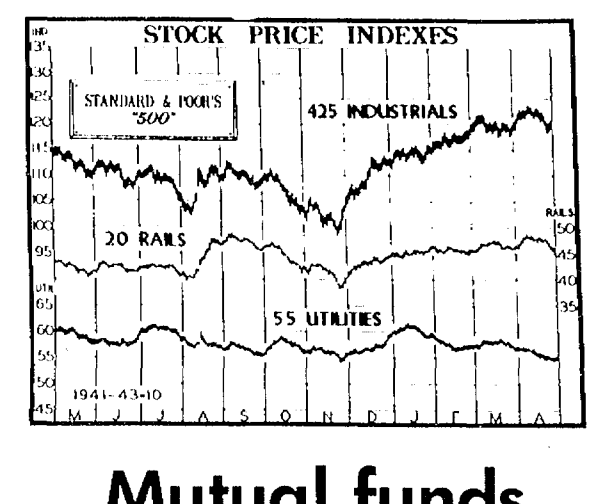

A Price Commission spokesman said almost half the major corporations are behind hand in filing required first quarter earnings reports. The commission needs these reports as a basis for determining which prices must be rolled back. At the start of the week, Chairman C. Jackson Grayson said the commission intended to order rollbacks that would save consumers many millions of dollars. A number of firms, principally retailing chains, were ordered to roll back prices during the week. The Labor Department said food prices, which are not controlled, declined 0.4 per cent in March. The department claimed other consumer prices also were leveling off.

The Interstate Commerce Commission turned down the railways' request for selective 4.5 per cent freight rate boosts in order to help hold down the general price level.

Staff report

The Federal Trade Commission confirmed the existence of that commission staff report Democratic presidential hopeful George McGovern has been talking about that accused big business of bloated profits and wasteful monopolistic practices on a huge scale. But the FTC said the $15 billion figure cited by McGovern for the cost of monopoly could not be substantiated.

The federal government's composite index of economic barometers was disclosed to have climbed 0.9 per cent in March, a strong gain. Machine tool orders climbed 37.3 per cent in March from February and 72.5 per cent from a year earlier.

Bargain hunters

up prices

NEW YORK (UPI)—Investors, apparently searching for bargains, pushed prices higher in relatively light trading on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 blue chip industrials moved up 8.0 to 104.17. Standard and Poor's 500 stock index also was ahead, at 107.67, up 0.62. The average price of a share of NYSE common stock rose 24 cents.

Trading slowed to 14,160,000 shares compared to 15,740,000 Thursday. Advances outnumbered declines 831 to 586 among 1,742 issues crossing the tape.

Some analysts attributed the gain to technical causes, saying it was nothing more than a follow up to the market's loss in recent sessions. Harry Laubscher, of Walston & Co., said he expected the market to continue to show "additional" weakness over the near term.

However, others said the rise was due in part to Wall Street's reaction to the flow of favorable economic news, including continued higher corporate profits.

American Motors led the active list, closing up 1/8 to 8 1/8, on 164,600 shares. The firm has announced production increases and is expanding dealerships.

Alaska Interstate was second among the actives, closing 2 1/2 ahead at 46 on 152,700 shares. The stock had lost more than seven points in the prior two sessions. Its slide followed suspension of merger talks with Virginia International, involved in an Indonesian oil exploration venture.

American Telephone and Telegraph was third, up 1/8 to 42 1/2.

General Motors was another active issue, adding 1/8 to 80 1/2. The giant automaker announced record first quarter earnings.

Polaroid advanced 4 1/2 to 139 1/2, after gaining more than 3 Thursday. The firm earlier in the week unveiled a new instant color camera.

Eastman Kodak, a major Polaroid competitor, also advanced, picking up 2 1/2 to 118 1/2. Kodak plans to make film for Polaroid cameras.

Jack O'Brian's

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Jack Cassidy's ex, Shirley Jones, is being wooed by handsome Hollywoodite Brad Trumbull. Jack's TV star son, David, took $160,000 as his share of six concerts in a one-week April span. Biggest record hit in England is "Amazing Grace," a 200-year-old hymn. The warmover happened because it got popular as an instrumental piece wheezed by the Royal Scot Dragons bagpipe band. "Sugar" is the biggest cash-collector on Broadway. Grossed $127,000 last week. Her Oscar may carry with it a reunion for Cloris Leachman with her estranged husband, George Englund.

Brendan Behan's last play, "Richard's Cork Leg," opened in Dublin. Variety called it "a robust Behanesque entertainment with little form but much fun... that should please Behan fans everywhere." Jane Fonda's plain pain over just simply accepting her Oscar was her first sign of public taste we've observed in years. Her dad, Henry Fonda, persuaded her to simply take the doorstep and run. Times Square cops are cracking down on gay-porno picture-palaces. 'Bout time. It was discriminating just to slough the hetero-porno dens.

Paramount's policing the bijous exhibiting "The Godfather." Too many are stopping the picture midway for godpopcorn-peddling intermissions. The totally slanted "Catonsville Nine" play by draft records' deseccating Daniel Berrigan has been made into a movie by Gregory Peck, who paid the whole $260,000 cost. The Cannes Festival rejected it as an entry, but it'll be shown there between starlet-strippings etc. Anything knocking the USA finds a home in European film circles.

Dubious distinction: CBS-TV bulletin shooter Roger Mudd's great-grandpappy was the doctor who set John Wilkes Booth's busted leg after he shot Lincoln. New York Public TV station WNET offered a complete program of Hanoi propaganda films accusing the USA of all manner of terrorististics and bolstered them with a panel of loud USA critics. Well, it's only our taxes financing such disgraceful TV slantings.

David Frost's wealth runneth over; he bought control of a mutual fund in London. Walter Cronkite celebrated his 10th anniversary as CBS-TV news anchorman. Congrats. Walter's the best in the business. The whole U.S. has but two vaudeville theaters, both in New York City (the Apollo in Harlem and Radio City Music Hall); England has seven, three in London. Oddity: black newspapers, radio and TV stations freely accepted ads for Paramount's "The Legend of Nigger Charley" about a black cowboy, but white newspapers are resisting. The title does seem offensively shock-prone.

Baroness Nina Van Pallandt insisted on an augmented 14-piece orchestra for her St. Regis run. She won't get that size crew in many spots in the U.S. Our finest gal singer, Ella Fitzgerald, does superbly in front of a trio. But then, Ella has talent. If Nina'd been really great instead of a beautiful woman with commonplace pipes, her billing could've been "Van Pallandt — Rhymes With Talent."

McGraw-Hill, which felt the worst of the Howard Hughes backlash while the Baroness seems the only one involved to win, and felt the pain of two misjudgments (the Hughes fiasco and the Chief Red Fox "memoirs"), also publishes a business advisory mag titled International Management. That's not even the worst of it. Its editor's name is Boner. J. Russell Boner. Really.

Ann Landers

Grateful for help

Dear Ann Landers: I was grateful for your wise counsel to "Uneasy in Pennsylvania" and to others plagued with guilt feelings because someone near and dear committed suicide. I have been down that lonely road and I wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy.

I was barely 19 at the time — already married to a man much older than myself. I had no inkling that my husband was so unstable. His certainly was not the classic suicidal personality. Never once was there a hint that he had self-destruction in mind. I'll spare you the details, but the method he chose to kill himself was skillfully designed to make me suffer.

For years I carried the guilt of his death. I blamed myself for not being wise enough to recognize the signs. I kept telling myself that somehow I could have saved him. I know now, of course, that nobody can save anybody. A person who would put a loved one through the hell of such a nightmare is unspeakably selfish and very sick.

Your compassion and understanding was a source of strength to me. I appreciate your daily column more than I can say. Thank you for it.

A Friend in Brookline

Dear Friend: I didn't realize so many people suffered with guilt resulting from the suicide of a loved one. I received dozens of letters from readers who expressed similar sentiments. Thank you for your generous comments.

Confidential to Walls Too High To Scale: I see by your envelope you live in Omaha. That's a break. The rate your husband is going you'll soon have no friends in Nebraska. Council Bluffs is just across the river and it's in a different state, too. Maybe he can find someone over there that can meet his intellectual, financial and social standards.

Is pot a drug? Can L.S.D. and pills open new worlds for you? Stop guessing. Get the facts in Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope (16 cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Angry letter

By Jean Adams

ANGRY LETTER: (Q.) My mother and daddy got a divorce. His "girl friend" has been married three or four times. I'm really built up inside about it, so I have written her a letter to let her know how much I've enjoyed her little tricks.

What I want to know is should I send it. Here is a copy of it:

"Mrs. X:
"I don't see how, in the name of God, my daddy tell for a person like you. You really deserve him, after all the trouble you went through getting him. You knew good and well he was married and had two kids. You just don't know what you've put my mother, my brother and me through."
Should I send it?

Father Lost in Maryland
(A.) I understand your deep feelings, and certainly wish I could do something magic to make you feel better fast.

I don't believe that sending the letter (which I have shortened considerably here) would make you feel better. However, just writing it may have been what you needed to do.

I don't believe receiving it would help your father's friend.

Please pray that not only you but all the others concerned will find a happier future. I pray you will and I also believe you will, if you will work toward it rather than wasting your time in anger about what is already history.

HEAVY FRIEND: (Q.) We had a school dance. The girls asked the boys. This girl asked me. She was overweight and my friends teased me. It didn't bother me, but it hurt her feelings.

Another dance is coming up. I would sort of like to ask her, but am afraid they would hurt her feelings again. Should I? Interested in New York
(A.) If you like her, ask her. Do not be intimidated by what your friends say. If she says yes you will know she is not intimidated. When your friends see you are not going to let them stop you from going with a girl you like, they will stop trying to.

The bidding:
East 1♥ South 1♥ West Pass North 3♥

Opening lead — eight of diamonds.

Let's say you're in four hearts and West leads a diamond. When dummy comes down, you note that the potential losers are two spades, a diamond and a club.

Of course, West may have the king of spades, in which case you could make the contract by finessing the queen. However, it is far more realistic to assume that East has the king, since he was the one who opened the bidding.

hands are won by avoiding finesses than by taking them, so your chief concern is to find a suitable alternative to the spade finesse.

After thinking about the matter a while, a possible solution begins to emerge. You cover the eight of diamonds with the ten, which East wins with the jack.

East's next play doesn't really affect the outcome, so let's assume he continues with the ace. Instead of ruffing, you discard a club, the purpose being to prevent West from ever taking the lead with a club and switching to a spade through the A-Q.

East then plays a low diamond at trick three, which you ruff high. You now cash the ace of clubs and queen of hearts, followed by a ruff of dummy's last club.

After crossing to dummy with a trump, you lead dummy's last diamond, the queen. East covers with the king, but instead of ruffing it you discard a spade.

East thus finds himself on lead and in poor shape. Dummy has no more diamonds or clubs, so if East returns either of these suits you discard another spade as you ruff in dummy, while if he returns a spade instead, you will in effect have executed a successful spade finesse.

Naturally, you start to look for ways and means of avoiding the finesse. Experience shows that more

Car emission standards may bring back steamer

By STEPHEN GREEN
Dow Jones - Ottaway News

A Stanley Steamer got up a super head of steam and hit 195 m.p.h. at Ormond Beach, Fla. That was 1907, and the Stanley had but 37 moving parts — fewer than the carburetor on some 1972 autos.

The Stanley also surpassed the 1975-76 exhaust-emission requirements of the National Air Quality Standards Act, passed two years ago.

Unless the act is emasculated by amendments in the next few years, steam vehicles almost certainly will be hissing along the nation's highways again by the early 1980s.

And with them will be cars powered by Freon, electricity, and gas-turbine engines. There will be stratified-charge engines, intake-valve-throttled engines, hybrid electric-gas turbine engines, many more diesels, and probably a few engine concepts that haven't been taken seriously yet.

The conventional gasoline engines that power most of the world's autos are headed for obsolescence, and no one engine will replace them. The reason is found at the tip of any vehicle's exhaust pipe.

Today's auto engines are grossly inefficient. They threaten diminishing fuel reserves. Their incomplete combustion of fuel is poisoning the atmosphere with carbon monoxide, a colorless and highly poisonous gas; hydrocarbons, the agents thought largely responsible for haze in the air; and nitrogen oxide, which causes eye irritation and contributes to smog.

Under the Air Quality Standards Act, auto emissions of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons would be largely eliminated by 1975, nitrogen oxide by 1976.

But spokesmen for the Big Four auto makers insist they'll need at least a one-year extension on the deadlines — and perhaps longer.

The auto makers say none of the other kinds of engines could be in production in time to meet the deadlines. Consequently, they're stuck with cleaning up an engine "that is inherently dirty," according to a National Academy of Sciences spokesman. "All they can do is put a gas mask of some kind on it."

The auto makers predict, therefore, that a variety of power plants will eventually replace today's spark-ignition gasoline engines.

Diesels, gas turbines, and steam will probably be used for trucks, buses, and larger cars.

Medium-size cars will tend to use steam, greatly modified spark-ignition engines, rotary-combustion engines, and various hybrid power plants. Smaller cars — especially those intended for densely populated areas such as Manhattan — could again use steam or electric propulsion.

This breakdown is anything but firm. Cheap electric power in the Pacific Northwest, for example, could make the electric motor feasible for any size vehicle there. In areas where square miles outnumber people, the modified spark-ignition engine could still be the best answer.

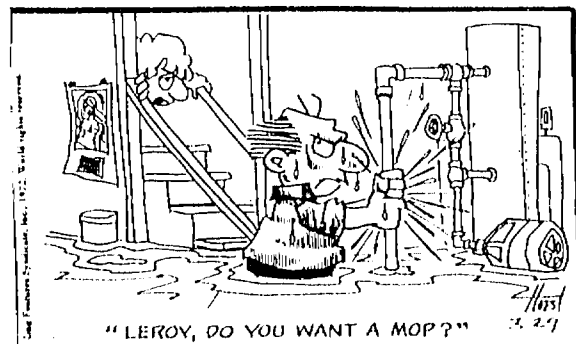

American auto makers are reluctant to talk about most of their present research. They concede, however, that much of it has been curtailed owing to the pressure to modify present engines for the 1975-76 emission deadlines.

They seem to agree, however, that the gas turbine has one of the brightest futures of all the present experimental engines. The turbine runs by converting liquid fuel to a gaseous state under very high temperatures.

A turbine car could melt the snow in a driveway. The high heat destroys most pollutants that normally escape through the exhaust. And turbines will run on any liquid that burns in air — gasoline, kerosene, heating oil, shale oil, even perfume.

Lower-grade fuels with less pollution potential could be utilized. Turbine engines rated at 280 horsepower weigh half as much as comparable diesels, but they're still too

Spring pleasure cruising starting

Intracoastal Waterway lures boaters

By HARRY B. ANDERSON
Dow Jones-Ottaway News

NORFOLK, Va. — The late Robert Ripley, believe it or not, once sailed a Chinese junk through the Great Dismal Swamp — which is neither great anymore, nor dismal.

Rather, it's one of the most pleasant places along one of the nation's best traveled, if least-known, tourist routes, the 2,300-mile Intracoastal Waterway.

Spring pleasure cruising along the waterway, which stretches from the Annisquam River, 23 miles northeast of Boston to the mouth of the Rio Grande at Brownsville, Texas, is just getting underway this month.

It's concentrated in the 1,250-mile stretch of canals, bays, rivers and channels that offer protected waters for small craft between Manassquan, N.J., some 40 miles south of New York City, and Miami. Boats as diverse as kayaks and 100-foot yachts ply this route — "the Route 66 of the boating set," according to one skipper.

The Army Corps of Engineers counted 9,000 pleasure boats on the waterway passing through the Corps' Norfolk District last year, up from 8,244 in 1970 and 7,844 in 1969. (The Army Engineers maintain the way.) Many of the boats belong to "snowbirds", winter visitors to Florida who head north in the spring.

Boats heading south from Boston still must cruise a good deal of open water in the Atlantic and Long Island Sound before reaching protected channels at Manassquan. But from there, a security-minded skipper can make it to Miami and beyond without ever seeing a wave bigger than his own boat's wake.

John J. Kehoe, a retired General Motors vice president who most winters takes his 52-foot cruiser Piesca to Florida from New York, says a worse danger "is herself, which can eat you alive."

Still, the waterway itself offers some hazards. Running aground in the coastal shallows outside channels is one. A professional captain gleefully recounts an incident in which six yachts followed one another aground in North Carolina's Neuse River. And stormy weather is dangerous inshore as well as offshore.

The first federal work on the waterway started in 1828.

For a great night out, take the Great Road.

Straight to our place, where everything's great, starting with The Great Road: five brilliant talents who make the town ring with music.

They go on at 9, but you ought to be here long before then, for the best dinner ever put on a Stroudsburg table (except maybe at your house).

So if you've been wondering what you could do for a great night out around here, you can stop wondering.

And start driving.

The Three Fathoms
... it's the great night out.

Your Horoscope

Frances Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)

— Conquer a tendency toward lethargy now and determine to get in there with some excellent pitching and make a definite, deliberate effort to win.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)

— Mild influences. You are just about on your own to decide, act, work out new facties. But don't stand still — not if you want to really get ahead.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)

— Search for a more distinguished, more imaginative way to support good measures. You can handle them with greater ease when you depend on your own efforts.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)

— Good stellar influences should instill you with new vigor, help to establish better relationships.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)

— A "mark-time" period for some matters; for others, a definite need for pressing forward. Be your usual discriminating self in deciding the urgency of each situation.

August 24 to September 23

(Virgo) — Favorable aspects but, unless you are on the outlook for flaws, you may miss in a few places. Be your most alert self, therefore.

September 24 to October 23

(Libra) — A big day for big doings. Emphasize your best traits and you can do considerable to help further new plans, improve and organize effectively. Forward!

October 24 to November 22

(Scorpio) — Mars encourages a display of your foresight, imagination and persuasive talent. A little determination will go a long way. Think before acting, however.

November 23 to December

21 (Sagittarius) — An active period: You may have to slow down, though, to review, make notes. Don't ignore the good

"little" things in the Big

Push.

December 22 to January 20

(Capricorn) — Do not be caught up in a dilemma of indecision or scatter efforts in so many directions that you accomplish nothing. Use that innate good judgment of

LLOYD'S OF PENNSYLVANIA

Many people ask us, "How can you build a 3-bedroom, all aluminum home, for $14,990?" It's a logical question because you generally relate quality with price. With most products there is a definite relationship, but in our case we believe you will be interested to know how we can build and sell our quality home at the low price which we do.

FIRST, we build 20 different style homes. They are not pre-cut, pre-fabricated but custom built. Our construction crews are thoroughly trained on OUR HOMES, which result in great labor savings.

SECOND, when you build as many homes as we do (We're one of Northeast Pa.'s LARGEST BUILDERS), we buy a large amount of materials and our savings are consequently great, which is reflected in the selling price of our homes.

THIRD, we are experienced. After years of building in this area we feel now that we have the finest and most efficiently laid out home that we can come up with at such a low price.

FOURTH, we are the only builder in the area that will give you a guaranteed starting date in writing, along with a guaranteed completion date in writing.

LASTLY, we try hard. We are vitally interested in our customers and want to build them a home that both of us can be proud of.

WE WILL be happy to have you visit our model home, and see just what we put into a home. We will be glad to answer any of your questions and try to be of service to you in any way we can.

LLOYD'S OF PENNSYLVANIA

Many people ask us, "How can you build a 3 bedroom, all aluminum home, for $14,990." It's a logical question because you generally relate quality with price. With most products there is a definite relationship, but in our case we believe you will be interested to know how we can build and sell our quality home at the low price which we do.

FIRST, we build 20 different style homes. They are not pre-cut, pre-fabricated but custom built. Our construction crews are thoroughly trained on OUR HOMES, which result in great labor savings.

SECOND, when you build as many homes as we do (We're one of Northeast Pa.'s LARGEST BUILDERS), we buy a large amount of materials and our savings are consequently great, which is reflected in the selling price of our homes.

THIRD, we are experienced. After years of building in this area we feel now that we have the finest and most efficiently laid out home that we can come up with at such a low price.

FOURTH, we are the only builder in the area that will give you a guaranteed starting date in writing, along with a guaranteed completion date in writing.

LASTLY, we try hard. We are vitally interested in our customers and want to build them a home that both of us can be proud of.

WE WILL be happy to have you visit our model homes and see just what we put into a home. We will be glad to answer any of your questions and try to be of service to you in any way we can.
